500 to Be Laid Off at Westinghouse

Goes Back To 5-Day Operation

Cuts Output Of Appliances

Furloughing of 500 employes at the Mansfield plant of Westinghouse Electric corporation Monday and return to a five-day week in the refrigerator department was announced today by company officials.

John H. Ashbaugh, vice president in charge of the local plant, said that during February employment has averaged 7,700 employes, a drop of 100 from the January average when there was very little furloughing. He said that employment during March is expected to average 7,200 employes.

In making the announcment, Ashbaugh said there would be a lower rate of production of small appliances, electric ranges, and electric refrigerators. A seasonal slack occurs during February and March, he said.

"We plan a lower rate of production on small appliances beginning March first," he said, "because small appliances are usually a fall selling activity. We make twelve different small appliances here and the reduction varies between ten and twenty-five per cent."

He added that the company "will reduce range production schedules ten per cent in order to bring about a better balance of field and factory inventories.

BACK TO 5 DAYS

Referring to the refrigerator operation which had gone to six days two weeks ago, he said that the operation will go to five days during March and added: "What the April production rates on these appliances will be, cannot be determined until the end of March and such schedules will be based upon sales of appliances during March."

Referring to the furloughing on Monday, Ashbaugh said "The reductions in employment include those of normal labor turnover such as quits, retirements and illness. Such normal turnover will reduce the number actually furloughed."

Employment at the plant during the war reached a peak of 5,600 while the peak employment during 1948 was 8,000 workers. The number of employes at the plant before the war averaged 5,100.

Today's announcement is in direct contrast to a statement issued Friday. Questioned yesterday about rumors that there would be furloughing, company officials said furloughing was "practically nil." They said the "normal one to two per cent fluctuation in employment is continuing."

Two Confess In Murder

DAYTON—(INS)—Dayton police said today they had cracked the "pop bottle murder" of a Dayton restaurant operator with the confessions of two men.

Detective E. H. Andrews said William Childers, 30, and Milbren Henry, 23, a roomer of the slain man, had signed confessions. The 57-year-old restaurant proprietor, Daniel J. Myers, was found beaten to death Thursday in his room above his place of business.

The detective chief said Henry is an ex-convict. Henry admitted watching Childers beat Myers to death after robbing the cafe owner of $60.

Henry was implicated in the case when it was learned he had been living with Myers and had a key to the restaurant. Childers told police:

"We just needed money and did not inted to kill him. Just thought to knock him out. I didn't realize I hit him so hard."

Along with this unusual feature will be facts concerning the new 'solar' house; what our new citizens think of Mansfield and America; complete sports; outdoors material; and news of folks you know and what they do.

Red Purge Underway In France

4 Sympathizers Nabbed In Raid

PARIS—(U.P.)—The ministry of interior announced today that four communist sympathizers were arrested and handed over to military authorities this morning on charges they had disclosed military secrets.

Those arrested were believed part of a group detained yesterday during sweeping raids on communist publications and their offices in Paris. Documents "interesting to the national defense" were found in the raids, officials said.

The raids were made as France moved to indict all members of the French Communist party central committee on charges of sedition by undermining the morale of the French army.

The four communist suspects were taken to the Reuilly army barracks in Paris for questioning by a military judge after hours of grilling by officials of the Surete Nationale, the French national police similar to the American Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Later today they will be transferred to the Cherche-Midi military prison in Paris.

The ministry of interior also said that 11 other men arrested yesterday on similar charges were released this morning but will remain under police surveillance.

Charges against the members of the French Communist party central committee were presented to the ministry of justice by Minister of Defense Paul Ramadier.

They were based on the declaration by Maurice Thorez, secretary-general of the Communist party, that France should welcome an invading Soviet army in case of war.

Pays $5,800 For Opium; Has Paprika

COLUMBUS —(INS)— An alleged $5,800 opium shipment contained in 58 spice cans had federal narcotics agents completing a minute examination today of what so far seemed to be only paprika.

Roosevelt Lewis, 44, told Columbus police he paid the sum to two men he arranged to meet at the Union railroad terminal. Lewis was held for questioning.

Meanwhile the narcotics agents sat down to the task of combing through the contents of the 58 cans. So far their efforts have turned up nothing except kitchen spices.

Rent Controls Still Opposed

WASHINGTON —(INS)— A compromise Democratic bill extending rent controls for 15 months was still unacceptable today to House Republican opponents.

Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich., ranking minority member of the House Banking committee, announced he would seek to extend rent controls only until June 30 "so that Congress can determine what the economic situation actually is going to be."

The compromise measure was worked out at a conference yesterday between the House Democratic leadership and Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods.

Goes Solo Into Silo

They Put the Skids On Grady

YUKON, Okla —(AP)— Knock-out drops, cut grease and a strong push-and-pull freed Grady the cow from her silo prison today.

It was a triumph for the Denver Post, which invaded Oklahoma to rescue this bovine damsel in distress.

She left the silo with great squirming and clatter of hoofs with Ralph Patridge, farm editor of the Post, pushing her from behind with the help of three others.

When it came down to cases, the liberation was a lot easier than expected and took everyone by surprise.

To get Grady ready, they pulled her fore feet through the door and a veterinary gave her a massive shot of demdutal—the same stuff they use in sleeping tablets.

Then they gave Grady a tentative heave.

There was a sudden scraping of hoofs on the greased wooden ramp underneath her and the Hereford burst out much as she had burst in.

Ever since the nation heard about Grady's captivity, Bill Mach, her owner, was swamped with suggestions.

"I heard from 44 or 45 states yesterday, including Canada," Mach said. "They all had ideas. I can't understand it—all this fuss for just one cow. People are sure kind-hearted."

Among the plans were:

Toledo, Ohio—The Toledo Times appointed a cow editor and started firing ideas to Mach.

WHA' HOPPEN?—Grady, 1,400-pound hereford cow who squeezed her way through a tiny silo door then couldn't get out, peers through the place of her entrance. The nation rushed to her aid with suggestions, but it took a combination of drugs, grease, inspiration and perspiration to free the bovine damsel in distress.

Minneapolis—A citizen recommended grease and a push through the door. "She won't come hard with lard," he said.

Mach, who runs a 1,280-acre ranch with 100 herefords in partnership with his brother Charles, is keeping an open mind.

"We'll listen to 'em all," he said.

Ohio Reds Back FEPC

Urge Stronger Measures In Bill

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio legislators have received letters from the communist party of Ohio urging them to vote for fair employment practice legislation.

The letters, signed by Robert Campbell, educational director, and Gus Hall, chairman, read:

"The communist party of Ohio respectfully suggests that you cast your vote for FEPC legislation that will end the division of economic citizenship in our state."

Last Wednesday an FEPC bill was recommended for passage by a 10-5 vote in the House Industry - Labor committee. A House leader said yesterday it may come to a vote on the House floor next Wednesday.

Campbell's and Hall's letter said they are not satisfied with the bill in the House. They added:

"It seems to us that the enforcement provisions are weak, and that all hearings and investigations conducted by the (FEP) commission should be public. These weaknesses, for example, are to be found in the Ives bill in New York state where discrimination continues despite the enactment of legislation which is supposed to end the evil."

'Saturated' With Permits

Liquor Board Urges 'Extended Freeze'

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The State Liquor Control board has proposed that the issuance of new permits for retail sale of beer and whisky be halted for an indefinite period.

A new regulation, filed with the secretary of state, would "freeze" the number of permits allowable at the total of those now in existence.

The board on Jan. 27 imposed a 60-day ban on the issuance of "C" and "D" permits. The new regulation, filed with the secretary of state Feb. 24, could not become effective before the elapse of 40 days.

Meanwhile, State Liquor Director Oscar L. Fleckner said he believed the state already was "saturated" with liquor permits. So far as he is concerned, he added, no additional permits should be issued, except in isolated cases involving unusual circumstances.

The text of the board's new regulation follows:

"After the effective date of this regulation the number of C-1, C-2, D-1, D-2, D-3, D-3A, D-4 and D-5 permits which may be issued within the state of Ohio and within each political subdivision thereof is hereby limited to a figure which shall be equal to the number of permits of each above designated class respectively issued and outstading in the state of Ohio and in each political subdivision thereof as of (date to be set).

"This regulation shall not be construed so as to increase the number of permits of the above designated classes permissible under section 6064-17 of the general code of Ohio."

Before the new regulation can become effective, the board must conduct a hearing for opponents and proponents.

Director Fleckner estimated the regulation might remain in effect 90 days, which would extend the present ban on new permits to five months.

Rifle Fire Hits Plant

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Franklin county sheriff's deputies were searching nearby neighborhoods today in an effort to locate the high-powered rifle which fired a shot into the uneasy American Zinc Oxide company plant at Columbus yesterday afternoon.

No one was injured as the bullet sped into the side of a building in the east section of the plant.

The shooting was one of several in the last few weeks.

A worker was accidentally shot through both legs recently and six shots were poured through a boiler room since the company ousted a CIO smelter workers' union which had struck last August.

Scenes of violence have been frequent and several persons have been injured and imprisoned in the strike action.

Coeds Take Impromptu Baths

Hint Discipline After 'Bedtime' Raid

ROCK ISLAND, ILL.—(U.P.)—Officials of Augustana college said today that "appropriate disciplinary action" may be taken against 250 male students who invaded the girls' dormitory, dumped the coeds out of bed and doused some of them in bathtubs.

The Rev. Harry B. Johnson, dean of men, said the affair was a "prank," and that "such things are unnecessary."

But one coed said "it was really more fun than anything else."

"In fact," said Lois Taylor, a senior from Geneseo, Ill., the girls "had an inkling" the boys were coming. She said some of the doors may have been "conveniently open."

The raiders roamed through the building, dumping over beds, upsetting furniture and pulling out dresser drawers. Mattresses were soaked with water and some of the coeds were hauled, kicking and screaming, to the filled bathtubs.

Miss Taylor, who said she locked herself in her room and "peeked over the transom," said the girls either were in bed or preparing to go to bed and that "most of them were fairly decent."

Some of the more spirited girls grabbed water buckets and doused the intruders. But all was pretty much confusion, for the boys had pulled light switches and silenced telephones. They even locked the house mother, Mrs. Alma Johnson, in her room.

The affair lasted 10 minutes. The boys posted a sentinel and, as Rock Island police approached, he sounded "retreat" on a bugle.

The boys scattered into the night and there were no arrests.

Probe Insane Doctor

Medical Board Under Fire

Ashland County Prosecutor Kenneth J. Nordstrom today asked the state medical board why Dr. Wayne E. Young, 54, former Mansfield physician, was permitted to practice medicine after he was adjudged mentally ill in 1946.

The physician, who recently had been practicing in Mifflin, is charged with abortion. Cited in Ashland county common pleas court, he was ordered to the Lima state hospital for observation.

His counsel entered a plea of insanity for him in the Ashland county court. Investigation by the Ashland prosecutor brought out that Dr. Young was ordered to a rest home Oct. 1, 1946, in Richland county probate court after he was adjudged mentally ill.

Evidence that Dr. Young practiced after he was released from the rest home was introduced at the Ashland hearing, Prosecutor Nordstrom said.

Nordstrom wrote Dr. H. M. Platter, secretary of the state medical board in Columbus telling him of the Richland county action in 1946 and that Dr. Young had been committed to mental institutions previously in 1940 and 1945. Dr. Platter said a hearing cannot be held as long as the Richland county ruling still is in effect.

Judge S. H. Cramer, Richland county probate judge said Dr. Young was committed to the old Hix Alcoholics Anonymous hall on West Fourth street road in 1946 when adjudged mentally ill.

Ralph Rogers, Ashland county deputy sheriff, who took Dr. Young to Lima Tuesday said Dr. Young appeared "foggy" in his mental attitude. He said the physician, whose wife died three years ago in Mansfield, had been living in the large second floor room of an abandoned schoolhouse in Mifflin. He used the room as office and residence with the first floor used for storing machinery.

Local investigation started when a woman, badly infected from use of unsterilized equipment, became a patient of another doctor in Ashland.

Auto Strikes Pole, Darkens Four Streets

Skidding more than 80 feet into a utility pole at the Marion and Sherman avenue intersection, a car driven by Thomas A. Taber shut off lights, fire alarm boxes, and phones in the Marion area for five hours—starting at 2:56 a. m. today.

Having felled the pole Taber's auto skidded 60 more feet into a tree on the east side of Marion avenue.

Four streets, Marion, Bartley at Marion, Maple at Dawson, and Sherman at Summit were blocked off as repairmen erected a new pole and made proper wiring connections.

Taber, 26, is a resident of Akron. He was charged with unsafe operation of his motor vehicle, and fined $25 and costs in Municipal court today. His driver's license was suspended until he pays for the damage he caused.

Announce Layoff of 5,000 Due Monday

TOLEDO — (INS) — Willys-Overland Motors officials announced today that 5,000 workers will be laid off Monday at the firm's Toledo plant.

Arthur J. Wieland, company executive vice president, said the layoff will last but a few days until an inventory of stockpiles is completed.

WILL DECORATE SOLDIER

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The army Monday will present Sgt. Robert L. Hodgkiss of Mt. Pleasant, O., with the highest award for heroism since V-J day—the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Milk Goes Down Tuesday

The price of milk in Mansfield will drop one cent a quart Tuesday, dairymen announced today.

Milk will retail at 19 cents a quart for the regular grade and 20 cents for the homogenized product.

The new prices will be the lowest since Jan. 1, 1948 when standard grade milk went up one cent to 20 cents a quart.

During 1948 there were two changes in milk prices. On Aug. 1, milk was increased to 22 cents per quart, the highest price in years. That price held until Nov. 16 when it dropped again to 20 cents.

FEED ADEQUATE

Two reasons were given here today by the dairymen for the price drop. The mild winter has made it easier to feed and care for cattle and the feed supply is more adequate than it has been for some time.

A year ago, feed was scarce, dairymen said. These two reasons are coupled with the fact that it is time for a seasonal drop in prices. With the coming of spring, pasture lands will again be open to cattle, it was pointed out.

All milk products will be down accordingly, a milk company spokesman said today.

Auto Price War Looms

GM Spokesman Ducks Argument

DETROIT — (INS) — An automobile price war loomed today in the wake of General Motors passenger car price cuts and economists viewed the GM move as an attempt to get the jump on the buyer's market.

Chrysler Sales Vice President A.Van Derzee termed the $10 to $40 slashes the result of a decision to "get more in line competitively," but a GM spokesman said the corporation refused to get into an argument and was "happy...to let the public decide."

The Chrysler corporation 24 hours previous to yesterday's GM price-cut announcement had upped prices on its forthcoming 1949 models 6.7 per cent.

The Ford Motor company so far has not indicated what its reaction to the General Motors Reduction will be. The firm cut prices on Jan. 15, 1947 but subsequent increases have more than wiped out the slashes.

Analysts, businessmen and financiers theorized that GM — the world's largest motor car manufacturer — may be attempting by its action to exercise price leadership in the nation's economy.

They looked upon the General Motors move as symbolic recognition of the transition of business from a seller's to a buyer's market.

Trapped Army Now Evacuates

TEL AVIV — (INS) — Evacuation of the three thousand Egyptian troops who were trapped in the Negev desert by the Israeli army during the Palestine warfare began today under the surveillance of Israel and United Nations personnel.

The Egyptians had been surrounded near Faluja and the method and time of their evacuation threatened several times to disrupt Israel-Egyptian armistice negotiations.

The whole force is expected to be evacuated within three days.

In accordance with the armistice agreement, civilian and army personnel were permitted to watch the first Egyptians move out of the Faluja pocket and head for home.

Popular Officer Succumbs

Death Occurs At 11:30 A. M.

Police Lt. William J. Taylor, 38, died at 11:30 a. m. today in General hospital of wounds suffered in a gun battle eight days ago.

The popular officer lost his fight against infection which developed from two wounds in the abdomen.

He was wounded when he went into a house at 321 East Fourth street early in the evening of Feb. 18 to capture Robert Dilgard, who had gone berserk.

Dilgard was shot fatally by Patrolman Carl F. Berry after the crazed man had wounded Lt. Taylor with a .22 caliber pistol.

UNDERWENT OPERATION

Although Lt. Taylor was operated on immediately after being received at the hospital and everything possible was done to save his life, Dr. Paul Stoodt,

LT. WILLIAM J. TAYLOR

the attending physician, said today that peritonitis had set in and the abdomen had become paralyzed. Severing of an artery by one of the bullets had complicated Lt. Taylor's condition.

All of Mansfield watched the officer's valiant battle against great odds after he was taken to the hospital.

Hundreds of calls have flooded police headquarters and the hospital switchboard during the past week.

The young officer, a veteran of World War II, had a friendly way and hundreds of persons knew his smile and greeting although they may not have known his name.

Taylor, who was appointed a lieutenant Feb. 20, 1948, had been with the police department six and one half years.

He served as boatswain's mate first class aboard an LSM in several Pacific invasions.

He was head of the Police Recreation club last year. His wife, Esther, and a daughter survive. His home was at 160 Parkwood boulevard.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home. Funeral services had not been arranged shortly after noon today.

Dutch Free Indonesians

THE HAGUE —(INS)— The Netherlands government announced today that all Indonesian Republican leaders held by the Dutch in Indonesia will be released immediately and unconditionally.

The men, including Indonesian President Achmed Sukarno, were seized by the Dutch at the time they launched their "police action in the East Indies last December.

The United Nations Security council on Dec. 28 ordered the men released but the order was not complied with. They had been held at the isolated island of Banka after being taken prisoner in Jogjakarta.

Another action protesting their imprisonment was taken by the Asiatic conference called during January at New Delhi.

Man Locked Out, So Sets House On Fire

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Eddie Brady, 50, had an argument with his wife and four sons, and they wouldn't let him come into the house.

So he soaked the front porch with gasoline and set it on fire.

The damage was about $100. Eddie was charged with arson.

Fair Buildings Show Need for Remodeling

Action Due When Data Is Available

Support of Entire Community Urged

By GEORGE COMINOS

The Richland County Fairground on Springmill street presents a dismal scene.

Several concrete slabs in the ground mark the spot where the grandstand stood before it burned just prior to the war.

A few of the buildings appear to be in fairly good shape, but most of them require repairs and paint. Some will have to be replaced. A grandstand must be built if the fair has a racing program.

Lewis L. Rinehart, president of the county fair board, wants to see a senior fair set up here like the fairs in other Ohio counties, "if all the people of Richland county want it."

Rinehart feels so strongly about this that he stated flatly: "This is the year we're going to decide whether Richland county is going to have a senior fair, as far as I'm concerned."

In his opinion, the Senior fair should be set up on a program based on the needs of the entire Richland county community—industry, labor and agriculture.

SEEKS ADVICE

Already the fair board has turned to Ohio State university for expert advice in determining what the present grounds requires to be developed for a senior fair.

Dwight A. McCullough, member of the fair board planning committee said the OSU specialist had made a personal inspection and had asked for drawings of the grounds.

These will be gone over by an OSU committee on fairgrounds and a report sent back to the board in about two weeks, McCullough said.

Rinehart emphasized he wanted to see the people of Mansfield become vitally interested in a senior fair, and that it should be looked on by all the people of Richland county—no matter where they live, as "our fair."

Rinehart said he had received suggestions that a coliseum be constructed on the Fairground. He said his own ideas coincide with those suggestions.

The coliseum, he pointed out, could be used as a hall to attract conventions to Mansfield, as an exhibit hall during the fairs and as a recreational center the year round.

Pointing out that the Joint Veterans' commission also has proposed the building of an auditorium as a living war memorial, Rinehart said that possibly something could be worked out between the two groups.

FUNDS NEEDED

Other suggestions he's received call for construction of a grandstand and repairing the race track. He said that perhaps either or both jobs should be undertaken by raising the money through a bond issue or a tax levy.

Although earlier estimates prepared by a fair board committee last year placed the cost of buildings and facilities at $500,000, board members are waiting the estimate of the Ohio State experts.

The fair board president said he didn't know of a single county in Ohio that doesn't have a senior fair. "There may be counties that don't have fairs," he added, "but I don't know of any."

The board has made repairs during the past two years and will continue to do so, Rinehart said. The junior fair uses the buildings for the housing of exhibits during a two-day show each August.

Nearly $7,000 was spent on improvements in 1948. A concrete floor was built in the Agricultural building, the most spacious structure on the ground.

Two years ago the 10-year-old 4-H building was completely renovated when a concrete floor was installed. A great deal of work was done on plumbing and the main buildings received a paint job.

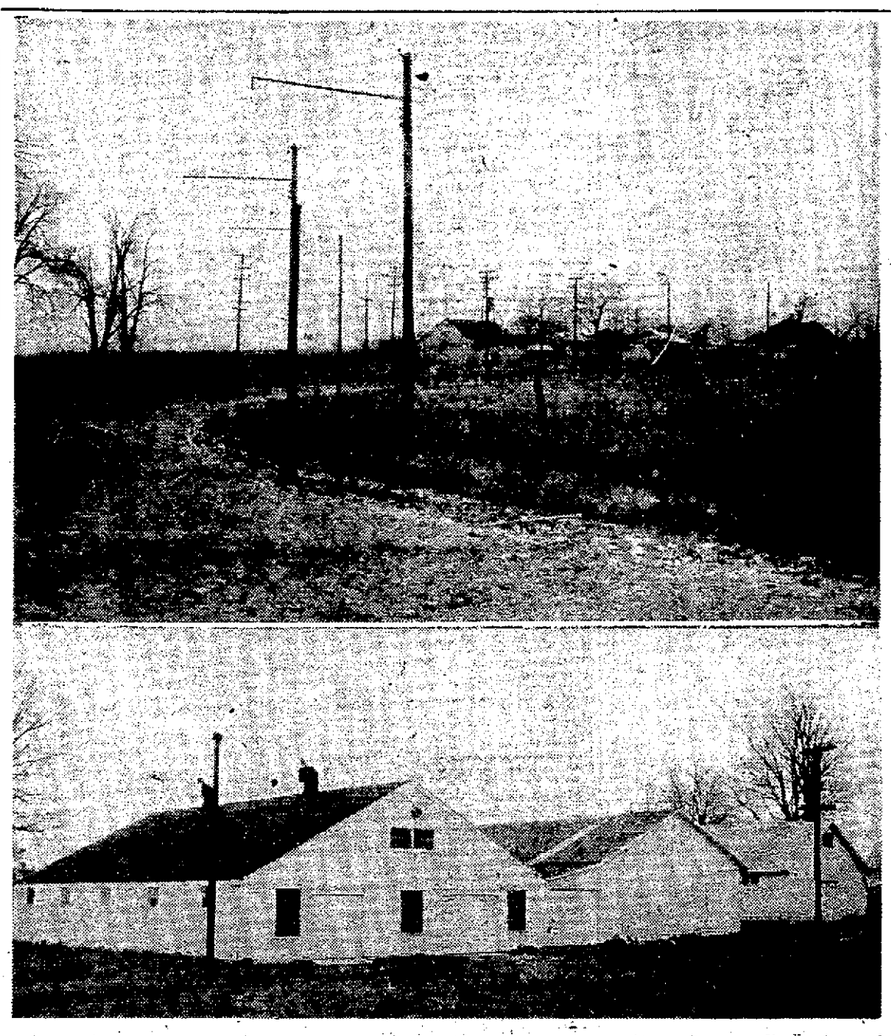
27 ACRES IN TRACT

The 27-odd acre tract contains seven race horse barns, a Grange Exhibit hall, an Art Hall which has two floors, a schools exhibit hall, besides the Agricultural and 4-H halls.

In addition, there are four exhibit halls for livestock—hogs, cattle, sheep, chickens and rabbits. These buildings also could be used in putting on a Senior Fair, Rinehart said.

The newest building on the grounds is the 4-H building which is 20 years old while all the other buildings and barns are 30 years or more.

Rinehart said the interest of industry here in having a Senior Fair would be aroused by the fact that they would have a place to exhibit their products.



FAIRGROUND TODAY—The race track at the county fairground, above, is a mudhole rimmed by weeds. Some of the old horse barns are shown in the background. Three of the better buildings on the ground are shown below. Left to right, they are the Agricultural building, Grange exhibit hall, and the 4-H hall. The fair board has tried to keep these buildings in repair for the annual Junior fair exhibits.

Simpson Pupils to Present Play

Dramatics Classes Entertain Students

By LARRY HARPER

Dramatics classes under the direction of Miss Louise Lynch are presenting a play Wednesday in the John Simpson school auditorium for the students. The dramatization is "Your Manners Are Showing". It is in three acts. Nearly every dramatics student is participating in this program, and it was written by the students.

Boys' gym classes, under the direction of Coach Robert Kennedy, are finishing stick hockey this week. Seventh grade art classes under the direction of Mrs. Marlene West are making objects of unbaked clay.

Robert Sonner had a joke published in the Junior Scholastic magazine.

Larry Harper recently took some pictures of the former physical education teacher, Mrs. James Steen and her baby, when she visited the school.

The Simpson Times will be issued March 4th.

Many students of Simpson and other schools enjoyed the Little Theater production, "A Murder Has Been Arranged."

Mrs. Eunice Stout and Mrs. Charles Fox substituted this week at Simpson.

The following student teachers from Ashland college are doing their practice teaching at Simpson: Miss Virginia White, Miss Rita Young and Pat Mancini.

Colonialism Biggest Danger In Alliance

There are two grave dangers associated with the proposed North Atlantic alliance which have not been mentioned to date which need to be taken seriously into consideration to prevent world-wide repercussions potentially as fatal to world peace as the threat of Russian aggression.

In saying this there is no intention whatever of lessening the hazard to world peace in the contemporary bellicose attitude of Soviet Russia. But in the steps about to be taken by the Senate which may, and probably will, bind the United States to an alliance of western Europe against Russia and eastern Europe, all the facts and potentialities need to be considered carefully.

Consciously or otherwise, an alliance of the United States and all the nations of western Europe will result, unless carefully guarded against, in an orientation of action and thought primarily directed towards the welfare of Europe alone.

The question immediately arises, therefore, of the sources of needed materials. No visitor to Europe during or since World War II needs to be told that such economic strength cannot be obtained from Europe itself. Inevitably one is led to the conclusion that it can come only from one or two sources—from the United States or from Asia, Africa and Latin America.

It is already apparent that, aside from Marshall Plan aid from the United States, the bulk of such assistance will come from other parts of the world, especially in the form of raw materials which could and probably will mean not only the perpetuation but the intensifying of colonialism.

The current conflict in Indonesia is the most publicized example. From London in 1943, Queen Wilhelmina tearfully promised that if the allies won the war and her territory was restored to the Dutch, all Dutch colonials would be given citizenship and opportunity equal to those of the natives of the mother country.

But, as was pointed out in this column in September 1947, colonial administrators of Queen Wilhelmina stationed in Dutch New Guinea far from Europe, declared frankly to John Dos Passos and me that there would be no change in the status of Dutch colonial subjects because "we know what is best for these people."

France in IndoChina, Belgium in the Belgian Congo (where the world's largest deposit of uranium discovered to date exists) and Great Britain in her African colonies have made it clear that the interests of the mother countries take precedence over the needs and desires of their colonial subjects.

No greater threat—including war with the Soviet union—could be created than a North Atlantic alliance which is conditioned in its thinking or created in its economy on the perpetuation of colonialism for the benefit of white, industrialized, war-shattered and intellectually and morally decadent Europe.

Such a development would swiftly force the recently formed Asian union in sheer self-defense to become the irresistible force of revolt against the immovable object of such a North Atlantic alliance.

Quartet Tops Youth Rally

The Mansfield Youth for Christ rally tonight will be entertained with special music by the King's Men, a quartet from Asbury Seminary, Wilmore, Ky.

The quartet will present a program of spirituals, traditional hymns and modern gospel songs.

The rally will be held in John Simpson auditorium at 7:30 p. m. One of the members of the quartet will be the speaker for the evening. James Hunter jr. is the song leader for the occasion and Louis Stambaugh will be the pianist.

Director of the non-denominational group, George McNair, has announced that the March meeting will be held March 26, 7:30 p. m. in John Simpson auditorium.

Average Wages Up

Spies, Army Essential to Red Success

The other day "The New York Times" reminded us that in January, 1947, Soviet Russia asked Norway for military bases on Spitzbergen. Sovereignty over Spitzbergen was disputed by Norway, Sweden and Russia for nearly fifty years until in 1919 the Supreme Council of the Allies of the first world war awarded it to Norway.

The treaty awarding it was later ratified by the Soviet Union. This group of islands, which lies far north in the Arctic ocean, has now become of very considerable strategic importance because it is on and near the air high-ways of the Arctic. The direct route, for example, from Seattle to Moscow would pass right over Spitzbergen.

The demand was refused by Norway and, as "The New York Times" says, "Soviet Russia did not get the Spitzbergen bases." Its editorial writer cites this incident to explain, at least in part, the desire of the Norwegian government to enter the proposed Atlantic pact.

Perhaps. But what also needs to be explained is why in 1947 Norway was able successfully to refuse the Russian demands. Two years ago nobody had mentioned the Atlantic pact. Nobody had mentioned the Marshall plan. Nobody had mentioned American rearmament based on conscription.

Norway itself was, of course, virtually disarmed and there were no military defenses on Spitzbergen. What, then, caused the Russian government to refrain from insisting, indeed from putting some troops ashore to take the bases?

There can be only one explanation: The realization that if the Norwegian refusal was overridden by force, it would be an act of overt aggression, that is to say, an act of war, which would arouse the United States and Great Britain, whose vital interests would be affected, to counter-measures of force.

This incident, illustrating the successful defense by a weak, small country of an undefended territory, is worth thinking about. For there are, as it were, Spitzbergens all around the vast periphery of the Soviet Union—for example South Korea, Iran, Turkey, Norway and Denmark. None of them, that is to say, could now or in the foreseeable future be defended successfully against invasion by the Red Army.

Are they then undefended? The answer is that they are defended, not because the Red Army could not march in if the Kremlin gave the order but because the Kremlin will not give the order unless it is prepared to fight, not Norway or Iran, but the United States. In military jargon the weak and exposed countries are defended not by their local defenses but by the balance of power.

But are they defended adequately? The answer, it seems to me, is that the menace of the Red Army remains wherever it is capable of making contact with a communist fifth column. The essential menace of the Russian power lies in the combination of the Red Army and the local communist fifth column. It is the combination of the two that any one who would conduct affairs must bear in mind.

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1949

Drive carefully tonight and tomorrow—and consider the cartoon alongside as a part of this paragraph.

President Truman is to go south early in March—but only to Florida, not SOB, meaning South of Border, of course.

Now that Brotherhood week is drawing to an end, it seems that reaching its objective will require at least a full month.

NLRB Condemns 'Goon Squad' Tactics

WHATEVER may finally come out of the controversy over repeal or revision of the Taft-Hartley law, few are likely to contend that some form of restraint over the excesses of some organized labor groups is unnecessary.

One phase of lawlessness indulged in as a part of strike procedure has just been condemned by the National Labor Relations Board, which thus establishes limitations for the guidance of picket-line personnel on future occasions.

Picket-line violence, with "goon squad" tactics, during a strike of CIO United Furniture Workers in Salem, Ind., provided the basis of the case in which NLRB found the union guilty of seven unfair labor practices and held the union responsible for picket-line acts of its agents.

It appears that, in addition to "goon squad" assaults, nails were scattered in the road, bricks and clubs were wielded, automobiles overturned, employes threatened for not joining the strike, and bosses barred from entering the plant.

Regrettable as it may be, it cannot be escaped that the methods pursued by some union members during the progress of a strike reflect upon law-abiding members of their organizations and also make it necessary to have laws under which acts of violence can be properly punished.

If the Taft-Hartley Law is found to have elements of unfairness, it should be amended in such ways as to assure justice to all parties concerned—but surely no more than fairness, and regard for the general welfare, should be asked by anyone.

Avoiding Work Seen As Growing Trait

AN ARTICLE by Samuel Hopkins Adams, noted author and journalist, in the March issue of Good Housekeeping Magazine, touches so revealingly on a present drift toward more pay for less work that it seems worthy of fullest possible reading and study.

"Americans in general," says Mr. Adams, "whether businessmen, journalists, laborers or housewives, have fallen into a lazy manner of living that has set us on the road to a form of bankruptcy worse, perhaps, than financial collapse."

Pointing out that this country "grew to be a great power, not because we could outscheme or outfight other nations, but because we could outwork them," Mr. Adams adds: "The heritage of World War II is national lethargy. No class is exempt from the contagion. We are all in the same slump, sitting on our hands and watching the clock."

Proceeding further on the same theme, the writer says: "Man cannot live without labor. The fact that so many of us are trying to do so, or, at least, to come through with as little effort as possible, is a portent to which we cannot close our eyes. It points to a dimming of the vital spark in the American spirit."

To support his belief that many people rarely do a full day's work, Mr. Adams speaks of the "ten o'clock lawyers, four-and-a-half-day-week bankers, doctors who fill hospitals with cold-in-the-head cases because it's too much trouble to call on patients at home." He does not spare "ministers who preach out of the barrel, businessmen who have to take two months a year in the South for their nerves and reporters who telephone to ask how the fire is coming along."

After citing instances of "feather-bedding," of which he says, "The unions invented the practice, unhappily they did not patent it . . . broadly speaking, most of us are feather-bedding," he calls for a revival of old-fashioned Yankee diligence.

"If ever in history there was a clear call for all-out effort," he says, "it is now. . . . The world looks with diminishing hope to the one nation with the power, vitality, the resources to supply lifeblood to civilization's depleted veins. And we, in whom the one hope lies, are taking it easy. . . . It is time for the United States to wake up and get to work."

Selective Enforcement of Laws

AN ODD QUIRK is given the local gambling situation by yesterday's announcement that bingo games in new quarters of the Disabled American Veterans would not be permitted until authorities became assured that "proceeds would be used for charity, as required by state law."

Just why there should be appearance of such close adherence to "the law" in this instance is not clear, as "the law" hasn't seemed to stand in the way of other wide-open gambling operations in Mansfield since the first of last April, when the two months' "permanent" ban was lifted.

The law requiring that proceeds of bingo games go to charity appears no more entitled to respect than do other Ohio laws—or perhaps Mayor Vaughn can explain that there is a difference.

After taking a look around, Claude Callan observes: "Children like to be worse than their parents, but it looks as if some of them are going to have a hard time accomplishing it."

What Some Other People Are Saying

DR. E. CUYLER HAMMOND, statistical research director of the American Cancer Society: "Unless we considerably improve the present cure rate, it is reasonable to estimate that the deaths (from cancer) will increase from the 189,811 in 1947 to about 415,000 by the year 2000."

Raymond Moley's Analysis

School Subsidies Mean Federal Control

HUEY LONG used to tell about the scrooch owl that snuggled up to a hen perched on a chilly roost. "And," concluded Long, "pooty soon there warn't no hen."

The fate of the hen may well overtake our educational system, if the federal government succeeds in its purpose of subsidizing the public schools of the states.

This issue is real and imminent. Two vast proposals are now pending. The one is a bill to "equalize educational opportunities" in the states. The other, embodied in the report of the President's commission on higher education, proposes a huge federal subsidy for planned mass education, from the high school level up.

The President's budget contained an item of $414,000,000 for education and general research, which represents an increase of $329,000,000 over the current year. This addition is largely a grant to the states for their schools. The President's request runs in line with the proposal of Senator Taft and several colleagues in the last Congress for $300,000,000 for state education.

Senator Taft, who has a high sense of constitutional propriety, confesses that for years he doubted the wisdom of such a subsidy. But he has now embraced the policy.

It is generally recognized by the advocates of federal school subsidies that federal control of the teaching policies and methods of our schools is inimical to American principles. This was recognized when in our Constitution public education was expressly reserved to the states.

* * *

"Control" Unavoidable.

BUT, say the advocates of this subsidy, federal aid does not mean federal control. In fact, in all the voluminous publicity of the N. E. A. and other groups, the slogan is "Federal Aid Without Federal Control."

The insistence upon these defensive words is, in fact, a confession that the separation of aid from control is difficult. It is impossible.

Senator Taft, in defending his bill last year, devoted a major part of his attention to this point. He stated that all the federal government could do under his bill would be to "audit" the expenditure of the funds. One section of his bill spreads out in some 200 words a prohibition of any federal interference or control. "That language," said Taft, "is as strong as we can write it."

That is probably true. And it is also probably true that no one else could write it any better.

But it does not resolve the doubts of many intelligent people who say that there can never be a federal subsidy that does not involve some control. And that in the course of time, control, like sin, "we first endure, then pity, then embrace."

When it is claimed that an "audit" does not involve "control," the answer is that "audit" is "control." That is why an audit in a business is a means by which a board of directors keeps control of its company.

In the law setting up the duties of the comptroller general of the United States, Congress specified that he should "investigate" all matters relating to the expenditure of public funds. And anyone familiar with the methods of bureaucracy knows what pressures, indirect and otherwise, can be put on those who enjoy government bounty.

There might be no such danger in limiting subsidies to grants for the physical plants or equipment of schools. But any extension of federal power over teachers, texts or courses of study would ultimately result in waste, inefficiency, deadly uniformity and the control of opinion by government.

Washington Calling

Fears Intrude On Gaiety

By MARQUIS CHILDS

NOTHING succeeds like success. The Democratic national committee has rarely, if ever, seen such a clamor for tickets to a Jefferson-Jackson day dinner as this year when the Democratic treasury will be enriched by perhaps $300,000 here in Washington alone.

In the fine flush of victory certain things are happening that worry more thoughtful Democrats who assembled for the Jefferson-Jackson day rally. They are fearful of an alliance between old-fashioned spoils politics and the lobby-lawyer, fix-it industry in the capital.

Chairman Howard McGrath of the Democratic committee has moved out of his spacious office at headquarters and turned it over to the new executive vice chairman, William M. Boyle, jr. Besides his job as senator, McGrath has extensive business interests in Rhode Island and the objective is to turn the actual work of the committee over to Boyle.

This includes the all-important function of dispensing patronage. It could well be a full-time job.

But Boyle will continue to run his own law office in Washington and that is one reason for the concern. Anyone with the power officially to allocate Democratic patronage would have a tremendous advantage in walking into a government department as a lawyer to do a service for a client.

* * *

Danger Recognized.

A DINNER was given in Boyle's honor the other evening. Most of the members of the cabinet were present, including Attorney General Tom C. Clark and several of his top assistants.

Present also were Boyle's associates in his law firm. One of them is Daniel J. Hanlon of Boston. Hanlon, who was close to Mayor James J. Curley, was an attorney in the Bureau of Internal Revenue from 1933 to 1938.

It was a pleasant get-together with none of the solemn speeches that blight so many Washington dinners. And if any important official present had any doubt about the identity of Boyle and his law partners, they were there on display.

Boyle, who worked hard for the President in the fall campaign, came up through the Pendergast school of political organization. During part of President Truman's service as a senator, he was his assistant and later he worked for Robert E. Hannegan when Hannegan became Democratic national chairman.

Most of us are likely to scoff at the professional politician while we neglect our own political responsibilities. That is not the point here. Professionals who have come up the hard way are essential in any effective political organization.

The point is that Boyle does not receive a salary from the national committe, his income deriving from his law practice in Washington where a good word spoken to a friend is often more precious than pearls and rubies.

Boyle says he is careful to avoid what is called around here the "influence business," taking only legitimate cases at law.

But, granted the noblest intentions and the highest ideals, this would seem to be a difficult position to maintain. The actual day-to-day direction of the national committee should be in the hands of a full-time expert who knows politics and the country.

To get a good man who would give all his allegiance and capacity to the job, he should be paid a sufficient salary, certainly not less than $25,000.

The need for a well-paid executive, divorced as nearly as possible from outside temptations and pressures, applies particularly to the party in power. The Republicans on the outside looking in can worry along perhaps with Rep. Hugh Scott.

A President can't use the kind of language Harry Truman uses when he gets real mad and not cause trouble. Something has to give.

They've used the alphabet for a lot of purposes down in Washington but this is the first time it was used to get more punch into a speech.

It must be pretty exasperating to a president to listen to some of those radio criticisms but I'm sorry, nevertheless, to find Harry giving such a poor sample of control when he is such a strong advocate of controls everywhere.

I hope it don't get so we have to keep the papers away from the kiddies the morning after a presidential speech.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Congress Studies U. S. Economic Pulse

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE joint congressional committee, which spent weeks listening to business, government, labor and farm specialists disagree over the nation's economic pulse, now has to decide what will help not hinder the patient. It hopes to have its diagnosis ready for the rest of Congress next Tuesday.

Whether its prescription will call for the controls sought by the President and endorsed by labor and farm leaders, or for a hands-off policy proposed by business, remains to be seen.

Economists, themselves, cannot agree on which direction the national economy is heading. Business spokesmen call the recent price declines the start of a postwar deflation which might lead to a depression. Government experts call it a soft spot in a still strong inflationary cycle.

New Word for It.

Presidential economic adviser Edwin G. Nourse has his own word for it—"disinflation." He says it is different from deflation because disinflation takes the pressure off prices while deflation means a collapse in the price structure.

The present period of disinflation is a healthy condition, Nourse says, as long as the public does not get the "jitters."

Business experts say that price declines since last summer, rising unemployment and "little depressions" in some industries are evidence that the inflationary trend has run its course.

Government statisticians are not yet ready to admit that the recent downward trend will continue. They point out that farm commodities slumped badly about a year ago, but interrupted only temporarily the inflationary spiral.

Work on Draft.

When the hearings ended last week, Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) started his committee to work on a draft of the report it will make on President Truman's economic recommendations.

Several times during the postwar period, Mr. Truman has asked Congress for broad anti-inflationary powers to curb rising prices.

In his State of the Union message last month, Mr. Truman again asked for a series of broad peacetime powers, including wage, price and materials allocation controls.

The President wants the government to be able to stimulate production of scarce materials such as steel. This would be done primarily by government loans to private industry. But if an industry refused to expand its capacity, Mr. Truman wants the government empowered to build its own plants to insure an adequate supply.

Speedy action to enact these proposals in law is not expected. Many congressmen have declared they want to wait and see what happens to national economy in the next few months before doing anything drastic.

At Home

The Talmadge Tide.

The political fortunes of Georgia's Gov. Herman Talmadge are at high tide.

The legislature, which adjourned last week, passed nearly 400 laws, 14 of them on major issues, in just 35 working days.

"I've never seen a harder working, more cooperative general assembly," said Gov. Talmadge. He declared it had made good his major campaign pledge of "white supremacy."

For the next two years at least, Talmadge holds in his hands the political power of Georgia.

Leadership Accepted.

The late President Roosevelt was once quoted as having remarked that America's frontier was on the Rhine. That statement caused a prewar furore and its authenticity was disputed.

But today the United States is the key nation in a proposed North Atlantic security alliance which would place this country's strategic frontiers at the eastern borders of the nations of western Europe. That is leagues further than F. D. R. ever dared go.

Within a month Secretary of State Acheson expects to present to Congress a completed draft of the North Atlantic defense pact. It will be buttressed by a multi-billion dollar military aid program for the west European members.

Navy War Games.

The Navy's biggest peacetime maneuvers now are underway in the mid-Atlantic, soon will shift to the Caribbean and wind up with amphibious landings in mid-March.

The war games involve 35,000 men, 120 ships, hundreds of aircraft. They will bring the Navy to grips with the two weapons it fears most—atom bombs and snorkel submarines.

The Atlantic Fleet will be bedeviled by two imitation A-bombs, simulated guided missle attacks, and an assortment of new high-speed submarines that are practically invisible on a radar screen.

Abroad

Europe "Looking Up."

Western Europe is beginning to look up spiritually as well as economically under stimulus of the Marshall Plan.

A different atmosphere pervades the executive committee of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC). Unlike the tense, tired group that met in Paris 18 months ago to plan almost desperately from the promised American dollars, the current Paris meeting is hopeful, almost gay.

There are good signs everywhere. Communist strike threats have lost most of their punch, rationing has loosened, prices are a little lower. And spring is in the air.

Battle of Blockades.

Russian-occupied Germany is in a bad way economically and current repressive restrictions indicate it is getting worse.

The west's counter blockade is pinching off what was left to eastern Germans after the "vacuum cleaner" of Soviet reparations went through.

This counter blockade has cut severely into eastern Germany's coal, iron, steel, textile and machine tool industries. The Russian insistent demands for "more work" from Germans simply results in more products of inferior quality, according to a recent British survey.

The Soviets first began to hamper traffic from the west in January, 1948.

South of the Border.

The Rio mutual defense treaty, which binds the 21 American republics to maintain hemisphere peace, has weathered its first test.

Through its good offices, Costa Rica and Nicaragua have agreed to a peaceful settlement of their two-months-old dispute.

The Rio treaty was only nine days old when Costa Rica charged she had been invaded from Nicaragua and invokes provisions of the new pact.

Council chairman Enrique Corominas said the final agreement was in the form of an amity pact.

Cost of Centralization

By CALVIN A. BYERS

CONSIDER the cities, like cancerous sores upon the body of our land! Greedy for ease and gain, they grow just in proportion to the amount of wealth, strength and man-power that they can drain off the rest of the country! They take and take—and rarely do they ever think that they owe something to the land that feeds them!

Year after year, surrounding acres pour their richest crops — meat, milk, fruit, vegetables, grain — into the towns. How much real wealth comes back? Not much. The sewers empty into the rivers or into the sea, polluting water, killing fish and game, despoiling the beauty of the countryside.

Water—most valuable resource — is drawn away from the land to furnish power for industries that, in turn, pollute the rivers and ocean inlets with their waste, killing millions of fish. The water table of the whole surrounding countryside is lowered. Crops fail and fall off with the passage of the years.

Industry pays well for brains. Farmers have bigger families than city people do. Thus it happens that most of the urban leadership stems from the farms.

Even the school systems reach out into the surrounding districts and claim the school children for an urban education. They are not taught the fundamental truths about their own need of the good earth of which they are a part, nor their fundamental obligation to cherish and have dominion over it.

* * *

IT IS a hopeful sign when educated men with money begin to move toward investments in growing asparagus and celery. What the people need is adequate food, rich in minerals and vitamins. The United States does not grow enough fruit and vegetables to go around. What stamina a nation has depends upon what the people have to eat. It is as simple as that.

To feed themselves adequately —to train the peoples of other nations in good agriculture — seems like a wonderfully big job for Americans to set themselves. We have made a beginning. We shall move ahead faster when city folks awaken to their responsibilities.

Green Blackboards Next.

Schoolroom blackboards of the future, says the National School Service Institute, will be green instead of black. Due to the change in their color they will be called "chalkboards." The green hue will be designed to make the slate on the walls more restful to the eyes of children.

There is nothing especially wrong with the idea that we can detect. It seems to be in line with modern educational aims to give the pupil every possible advantage. Only sometimes we wonder how the youngsters of the past managed to get through school in good physical shape and with fair results on the learning side even though they had none of the elaborate instructional aids devised for the classroom since their time.—Kansas City Star.

Causes of Painful Feet

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IT HAS been estimated that one out of every three persons in the United States needs to consult a physician about painful feet. In these cases a thorough study is necessary to find the cause of the condition before it may be adequately treated, and there is a large number of possible causes of painful feet.

Often a mild clubfoot, which has been partially corrected during childhood, may be responsible for pain in the foot when adult life is reached.

Cause of Pain.

Of course, the most common cause of pain in the feet is flatfoot. Flatfoot may be present without causing any symptoms. Not infrequently, this condition is accompanied by a disturbance of the ankle which puts strain on the foot and leads to pain. In treating this disorder, a felt pad may be put in the shoes and a wedge put on the inner edge of the heel. This treatment will relieve the pain if it is due to flattening of the feet.

Many times, pain in the foot is due to too high an arch. Some operative treatment may be required in such cases.

Bunions as a cause of painful feet are easily recognized. Sometimes the bunions are due to bony deformities of the feet which require surgical correction.

Result of Injury.

Painful feet may result from injuries, such as broken bones or sprains, or to arthritis due to trauma or injury.

Sometimes, following a severe injury, a person is kept off his feet for a long period of time. A condition may then develop in which the skin is shiny and cold or, perhaps, reddish and actually warmer than normal. There may be some swelling of the tissues. X-rays may show some wasting of the bone.

Persons who have painful feet should not delay in seeking the services of an orthopedic specialist.

Florida Bookies Not Worried, Drive Started Late This Year

AMERICA might just as well start considering now whether it should secede from Florida.

If it doesn't it may end up with another Los Angeles on its borders.

For that is what some natives here fear—and I use the word advisedly—that south Florida's Gold Coast is turning into, yes, a second Los Angeles.

The whole area is still riding high in the saddle of the postwar boom. You have to know the mayor to get a hotel room. The beaches are so packed with bare-backed ladies seeking tan that the sand is becoming pale and anemic. It isn't getting enough sunshine itself.

Hotels, apartment houses, stores and homes go up almost overnight. The communities strung along the shoreline are thickening like a muscled arm. They are filling up with people—and people who have come to stay.

"The way things are going now the whole 70-mile stretch from Palm Beach to Miami will be one continuous city," complained one resident. "In ten years the Gold Coast will be another Los Angeles."

Many natives don't enjoy that prospect at all. They like the tourists to visit here and depart, full-hearted and empty-pocketed. But they think that some of the gilt will peel off the Gold Coast if it becomes as crowded as the thriving metropolis of southern California.

Alarming as that possibility is to them, it is of even more potential concern to the rest of the United States. Is any country large enough for two Los Angeles's—both squeezing Texas like it was an overripe grapefruit?

★

There are two seasons in Florida each year marked by high winds and some excitement. One is the hurricane season, which hits its peak in September and October. The other is the annual anti-gambling crusade season, which usually is launched just as the well-pocketed tourists start to follow the robins north.

In some circles there is a tendency to take the anti-gambling season as a tired sop to outraged civic virtue. The wisacres say it is pretty much like locking the barn door after the horse is stolen—as the gamblers have already shorn most of the tourist sheep by mid-February.

When the new governor, Fuller Warren, launched a state-wide anti-bookie campaign this year, one man called up a bookie and said:

"Aren't you worried?"

"Naw," said the bookie, and he quipped:

"They're three days late in starting this year."

There are indications, however, that the current crusade may hurt more than usual. Gov. Warren ordered the arrest of every bookie in Florida, charging that the state lost $8 in racing taxes on every $100 bet with bookies. He also ordered a crackdown on the numbers racket, and slot machines have been banned.

Gambling is a particularly thorny issue in the plush Gold Coast area. Some citizens feel it has to be permitted to draw lush spenders. Others say that only 10 per cent of the tourists are bettors, and that the plush gambling palaces scare away more visitors than they attract.

One unexpected development in the current anti-gambling drive: A wife sued her husband for divorce on the grounds he was a bookie, and another wife, seeking a parting of the ways, charged her mate tossed away the family dough in bookie joints.

Blymyer Estate Appraised at $519,041

Widow, Sister Get Property

Holdings Include Business Sites

The estate of George W. Blymyer jr., who died on Dec. 12, was appraised at $519,041, an inventory on file in probate court showed today.

The estate includes $400,844 in stocks and securities, $24,487 in accounts, $93,600 in Mansfield property, and $110 in personal goods.

Mr. Blymyer was a partner in the old Blymyer Stove company and owned the old Blymyer home at Park avenue west and Mulberry street.

His will stipulated that a life estate in the three properties go to his sister, Mary E. Blymyer while the rest of the estate was left to his widow, Mrs. Marguerite Johnson Blymyer, of Middleton, Ga.

The real estate includes five-eighteenths interest in the Kresge store building property, and one-fourth interest in the Grant store building, both on North Main street, and one-third interest in the filling station property at Park avenue west and Mulberry street.

SALE PLAN SET UP

The Grant building and the filling station property are to pass to the widow while Mr. Blymyer's share in the Kresge building may be purchased for $20,833 by William M. Weldon jr., according to the will.

The will provided that $5,000 go to a cousin, Miss Josephine Cook, of Columbus, $5,000 to Mrs. Miriam Hedges Smith, of Laguna Beach, Calif., and $3,000 to Frank Blymyer, of Clarenden Hills, Ill.

Listed as stocks and securities were a number of municipal and state bonds and U.S. government savings bonds in the amount of $76,091, including accumulated interest.

Other stock holdings included: Cleveland Trust company, stock valued at $9,740; Coca Cola company, $13,900; Eastman Kodak company, $10,968; Farmers Savings and Trust company, $5,800; General Electric, $27,650; General Motors, $34,875; F. E. Myers and company, $10,300; Ohio Brass company, A, $116,735, B, $29,575; and Union Carbide and Carbon company, $16,250.

Judges Fix Sewer Award At $2,000

Cost of City Easement Set

A three-judge court late yesterday set at $2,000 compensation for a 198-foot long, nine-foot wide easement, wanted by the City of Mansfield for a storm sewer.

The three judges, sitting in Richland county common pleas court, rendered their verdict at 6:15 p. m. after hearing evidence in the case which started in the morning.

Hearing the case with Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch were Arthur Tudor, of Hardin county, and Clarence U. Ahl, of Crawford county. The parties had asked for a three-judge court to hear the case.

The court ruled that $1,750 of the sum should go to the Jacob Wolf company, which owns the property, and $250 to the Builder's Supply company, the tenant.

ESTIMATES DISAGREE

Appraisers for the defendant companies had put the value of the easement at $3,000 while appraisers for the city set its value at $500. Company officials said the property's value would be reduced from $20,000 to $10,000.

The easement would include perpetual rights to make repairs to the line. City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch said he would take up the matter with City council Wednesday night to determine if it wants to pay that compensation for the easment. The defendant companies may still appeal the case, but the city could still go ahead and use the easement. Attorney Lydon H. Beam represented the defendants.

Solicitor Kalbflesich said the proposed 42-inch storm sewer would go from Orange and Hoffer streets taking water from a catch-basin there in a southeasterly direction, emptying into the Rocky Fork creek. He said that other lines in the area have been inadequate to drain the area and that the new line would empty water into the creek away from the Wayne street where other lines empty into the creek, reducing high water hazards there.

50-Year Nurse Dies

Rites Monday for Catherine Butler

Miss Catherine Butler, who last September celebrated 50 years in the nursing profession, died last night at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Helen Butler, 24 West Arch street, after a week's illness.

Miss Butler was born in Loudonville, coming to Mansfield as a child. She attended St. Peter's parochial school and took her nurses' student training at St. Vincent's hospital in Toledo, from which she was graduated in 1898.

She was a member of the St. Peter's Catholic church here, the Catholic Ladies of Columbia, the Catholic Nurses association, the Ohio State Nurses' association and the American Association of Nurses.

Her only survivors are several nieces and nephews among whom are Sister Marcellina of Granville.

Funeral High Mass will be held at St. Peter's church, at 9:30 a. m. Monday with Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

Members of the Ladies of Columbia will meet at 8 p. m. Sunday at the late home to pray the Rosary. Friends may call at the home after 6 p. m. today.

Sees Price Supports As 'Necessary Evil'

The farmer's purchasing power must be maintained for the sake of the nation's economy, "even though most farmers, because of inefficient operations, don't deserve such help," Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield said last night in Cincinnati.

Bromfield lashed out at the government's subsidy of farm products in a forum before the Business and Professional Men's group of the University of Cincinnati.

Bromfield declared that the American farmer is potentially able to produce food or cotton more cheaply than anywhere else in the world, but that he "actually has almost the world's highest production costs."

Declaring that he is "an enemy of parities, support prices and agricultural subsidies," Bromfield explained:

"We cannot do away with these things overnight for the simple reason that the purchasing power represented by agriculture is of vital and fundamental importance to the whole economic structure of the nation.

"If, overnight, the majority of farmers found themselves unable to go to town and buy commodities manufactured by industry, the result would be disastrous and might precipitate us all into a severe depression."

ASKS EFFICIENCY

Bromfield called for a higher level of agricultural efficiency and productivity and said that "only about 10 per cent of the American farmers can properly be called good and productive operators."

He said that any modification of the farm subsidy program will have to be brought about gradually but declared that "the ultimate answer and perhaps the only final one lies in a better agriculture."

"If we had as good an agriculture throughout the country as that practiced by the 10 per cent of our good farmers, there would be no need for subsidy or parity guarantees of any kind. At present a large part of our agriculture might be called truly a 'kept' agriculture," Bromfield said.

"It is 'kept' by the high prices maintained through government buying and restrictions and it is 'kept' by the tax money out of the other pocket of the city taxpayer which goes to pay for that government buying and in financing the vast bureaucracy that goes with it.

"This is a significant knowledge, for only about 18 per cent of our population is actually engaged in agriculture, and the rest of the population must pay high prices and subsidies and the expense of bureaucracy to make farmers prosperous."

Mrs. Beal Dies At 67

Mrs. Stella Melissa Hathaway Beal, 67, of 129 South Mulberry street, died in an ambulance on the way to General hospital yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Beal and her husband, William Beal, were enroute to Ashland, when Mrs. Beal suddenly became ill about six miles northeast of Mansfield. Beal stopped the car and called an ambulance, but Mrs. Beal was dead on arrival at the hospital.

She had not been in good health, but her death was unexpected, the family said.

Mrs. Beal was born Aug. 23, 1881 in Morrow county and had been a resident of Mansfield for the past 40 years.

She was a member of the United Brethren church and the Women of the Moose. Besides her husband, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. William Barnes, of Mansfield, and five grandchildren.

Services will be held at the United Brethren church at 1 p. m. Tuesday and will be conducted by Rev. V. C. Stamets, of the church. Burial will be in the Bellville cemetery.

Friends may call at the Wappner funeral home, beginning tomorrow.

Name Prayer Day Leader

Mrs. Earl Henry will be the leader for the noon service preceding the annual World Day of Prayer worship at the First Methodist church next Friday.

The noon service will be from 12:10 p. m. to 12:50 p. m. and has been planned particularly for business women who cannot attend the afternoon service. They may come and go at any time during the 40-minute period, Mrs. Henry said.

The service during the noon hour will follow closely that of the afternoon service which starts at 2 p. m. It will be, as the later service, a prayer service with responsive readings. Mrs. Edgar Schumacher will be the organist.

However, there will be no offerings taken during the service. Contributions may be made at the door for the World Day of Prayer Mission projects.

During the afternoon service, Miss Bertha Ruess will give a brief meditation on "Prayer" and the explanation of the projects will be made by Mrs. Paul Lee. Special music will be included in the worship hour.

One Customer Purchases Car For a Penny

TOLEDO — (AP) — Only one out of more than 100 persons, who looked over the "one cent" automobile sale, made a purchase deposit, but Nick Rapton, Toledo used car dealer, said today he is not discouraged.

"The idea of offering an automobile for sale for one cent is new and I must give them time to think it over," he explained.

Rapton yesterday offered for sale six sets of automobiles. With purchase of one car, the buyer could get the paired car for one cent more.

He said that at least 100 persons visited the lot yesterday and one placed a $5 deposit on a 1941 Chevrolet sedan priced at $995. If the transaction is completed, the buyer is entitled to a 1935 Plymouth sedan for one cent more.

Studies 4 Projects

Four county-wide projects were proposed for consideration by the Richland County Farm Bureau Home and Community committee at a meeting yesterday at the Sky club.

The committee will study the proposals for a month and then select two or three for its year's program, a spokesman said. Paul White of the Farm Bureau staff was in charge of the meetings.

The proposals call for studies of the adequacy of the county health program, rural schools, telephone service, and creation of more Farm Bureau advisory councils and strengthening of their influence.

Trial Adjourns For Weekend

LIMA — (UP) — The trial of three men accused of hiding a microphone in a jury room of the Allen county courthouse was adjourned for the weekend today after witnesses told of seeing the men leave a room adjacent to the jury room.

Standing trail on criminal contempt of court charges in Allen county Common Pleas Court are Sheriff William R. Dailey and Police Detectives J. Robert Neeley and Bernard L. Burkhart.

Lawrence Sauers, an electrician who did some work at the courthouse, testified he heard pounding and saw some lights in the jury room where the microphone was found.

When he investigated he saw the two detectives and the Sheriff leave the room, Sauers said.

Sauer's wife said she was in the building while her husband was working and saw the sheriff and two men she did not know enter the room on Jan. 17.

Sauers later told Common Pleas Judge Moran Jenkins of the incidents and was with Jenkins when the latter found the microphone hidden behind a radiator in the jury room.

The jury room had been used by Richard Snyder, defendant in a murder trial, and his attorney for conferences. Dailey, Burkhart and Neeley had been appointed special investigators in the Snyder case.

Raps Spy Probe Critics For Blindness to Danger

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

In this concluding article of my series I'd like to get a few things off my chest, things I could not say while working for the House un-American activities committee.

I don't regret any of the years I spent with the committee, though the work was neither easy nor rewarding. It was work that somebody had to do, and from its seed has sprung two tremendous government programs, the $17,000,000 inquiry into the loyalty of government employees, and, directly or indirectly, the multi-billion dollar Marshall plan to fortify European democracy against communist infiltration.

But the House committee, pioneers and forerunners in this work, at a meager fraction of the cost of subsequent development, has never known a period when it was not under attack.

One of the chief criticisms directed at the House committee is that we have smeared the reputations of good citizens. As I said earlier, I am not the official apologist of the committee. It has made its mistakes. But whenever I hear anyone use the word "smear" in connection with the committee's efforts I must ask him to name those persons we have smeared (of the hundreds of witnesses we have heard and the thousands of names introduced).

NAME ONLY ONE

The name of Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards, usually is brought up. Beyond his name there is usually silence. As I have pointed out, I made an effort to have Condon called as a witness in answer to his request. That he wasn't called, however, is comprehensible. This friend of many pro-communists, who was not cleared by the Atomic Energy commission to share A-bomb secrets at the time he was in charge of the bureau's atomic scientists, was not heard because the committee could not obtain from the White House the letter which J. Edgar Hoover had written suggesting that Condon was a poor security risk. I hope the committee eventually gets that letter. I hope it hears Condon.

The committee absorbed considerable punishment during its investigation of communism in Hollywood, where the ideology has taken such a foothold that there are figures to prove that party collections from members and their followers amount to $32,000 a week.

What the committee has revealed over the last ten years is hard for many Americans to believe. The average citizen cannot comprehend that one of the top officials of the super-important Board of Economic Warfare was a gamboling nudist whose literary output had to be confined to the pornographic division of the Library of Congress; that his successor was a kind of male strip-teaser dancer; that pressure enough was put on respectable authorities to cause the shipment out of this country of more than 1,300 pounds of uranium products at the time we were attempting to develop the A-bomb; that the chief Russian spy in the A-bomb espionage ring was impervious to arrest.

We were condemned for listening to accusations made against Alger Hiss, president of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, even after his testimony became increasingly evasive and he was indicted by a Federal grand jury.

The last time I saw Whittaker Chambers he said he was sorry the espionage case had developed into the pattern of a personal battle between himself and Hiss. He said that this overemphasis of a dramatic case had distorted the real picture—the scope of the conspiracy.

That is true. The committee has not yet had an opportunity to probe deeper into the serious charges lodged by ex-communist Elizabeth Bentley, who admittedly operated in Washington during the wartime period, whereas Chambers left the party, and such work, in 1938.

Her charges point definitely to treason as well as espionage. There is no statute of limitations on treason. It is punishable by death.

What will become of Chambers and Miss Bentley remains to be seen. Their testimony stood up under an exhaustive series of checks. In the quarter century of the communist conspiracy against this government they are the only two of their type who have broken with the party.

If they are jailed for their confessed crimes against this government, we can expect little or no future help from American communists who now may be wavering. My own feeling is that Chambers and Miss Bentley can tell more.

Personally, I seem to have committed the crime of attempting to expose people who seek to destroy our way of life. It is a job for which I was hired by chosen representatives of the people of the United States; a job to which I attended to the best of my ability.

It is not a very good job, really, for the simple reason that it is now unfashionable, if that is the word, to be primarily interested in America and the preservation of its liberties.

If it's all the same to you I'll bow out.

Frustrated Lawyer's Story Told In 'Hour of Truth'

THE HOUR OF TRUTH, by David Davidson, is one of 18 new books which will be available at the Mansfield Public library Monday.

This fiction selection is the story of a frustrated American lawyer who escapes from the dominating women of his family by joining an expedition to a remote South American country. He discovers that most of his co-workers are trying to "find" themselves. The story moves swiftly and the tropical background is authentic. Davidson also wrote "Steep Cliff."

SEASON OF COMFORT, by Gare Vidal, is the story of a young man's growth and development in the years between the two world wars. The scene moves in and out of Washington, D. C., and shows the effect on his character of an unstable but possessive mother, and a political family.

A STAR CALLED WORMWOOD, by Martha Bacon, is the story of the harum-scarum children of an American writer in Italy. They are slightly reminiscent of Margaret Kennedy's Sangers, but the story develops along entirely different lines when the young people and their tutor seek shelter in a peasant's cart and are carried up into the hills while they sleep.

Other fiction:

"Long After Summer," Nathan; "Justice On Halfaday Creek," Headryk; "Gone Tomorrow," Davis.

Non-fiction:

THE BEST OF TIMES, by Ludwig Bemelmans, is an account of Europe revisited, with 50 colored and many black and white illustrations by the author. Although superficial as social commentary, this handsome book is vividly descriptive of what has survived and what lies in ruins in France, Germany, and Austria. The book is based on pre-war memories plus trips abroad since 1914.

FLIGHT INTO SUNSHINE, by Mrs. Helen Gerer Cruikshank, is another handsome picture book, this time of photographs of birds. The text is an account of a trip to Florida taken by the author and her photographer husband under assignment from the National Audubon society. There is a wealth of interesting information about the large and colorful birds of our American tropics plus about 100 beautiful bird photographs.

THE CITY AND THE TZAR, by Harold Lamb, is a continuation of Lamb's popular history of Russia begun in "March of Muscovy." This volume deals with Peter the Great and the turning of Russia toward the West from 1648-1762.

IN SEARCH OF A FUTURE, by Maurice Hindus, is a book about Persia, Egypt, Iraq and Palestine. It is the author's judgment that Jewish Palestine provides a workable blueprint for the development of the other nations included in the book. He bases this judgment on observations made during a recent trip through these countries which he describes here.

Other non-fiction:

"Report On the Greeks," 20th Century Fund: "In Anger and Pity," Magidoff; "New York Herald-Tribune Forum 1948"; "Partners In Production," 20th Century Fund; "Duncan Hines' Vacation Guide"; "Youth, Communication, and Libraries," Henne; "Letters of Annie Oakes Huntington"; "Annual of Advertising and Editorial Art."

Pimlico Track Heads for End

BALTIMORE, Md., —(UP)— Historic Pimlico, one of the nation's most famous race tracks since it first opened its gates in 1870, was headed today for early abandonment.

The end of Pimlico's active career was asked by the Maryland jockey club, operator of the track, and the Maryland racing commission in a letter to Gov. William Lane, jr. One of the reasons given for the move was that Pimlico has no space to expand and thus cannot be kept up as a "first-class" track.

However, the big slump in betting at Maryland tracks during the past year, was another and possibly more important reason.

Atlanta Opens Title Course

ATLANTA — (AP) — America's newest championship golf course has opened in Atlanta—Peachtree Club—and its dominant patron is the dominant figure of golf history, Bobby Jones.

The builders of Peachtree Club have far different ideas for their course than do the usual backers of championship courses.

Peachtree is unorthodox. It's not for conventional use as a society country club or as a publicity producer and it's not necessarily a site for the national open or the amateur.

The course is for the small, exclusive membership to play golf on.

WHEN HESITATION PAYS

We hope you never have to say, "I wish I had . . . ." So phone now. Look where you will, see what you may; but be absolutely certain to hesitate long enough to call us before your final decision. It is an exact fact that we have some of the most beautiful homes in Mansfield. And they are all listed with us "Exclusively" at prices justifying our opinion that each one will sell in the very near future. We know that very few of you fail to call us, and we also know that very few of you are disappointed in what we have available; but we also feel fully justified in making the statement that none of you should overlook the possibilities in our possession. We offer the best in homes, and strive with all the measures in our possession to offer the very best in service.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Teams Battle Tonight for Richland County Cage Crown

Tygers and Rams Lose Final Games of Season

Fritz Howell's ... Sports Chatter

(Ohio AP Sports Editor.)

COLUMBUS—Pardon us if we forget basketball for a few minutes. We'd like to break a lance on behalf of the pin boys—those kinds who "set 'em up" in the bowling alleys.

Our handicap league, in which we're averaging a rousing 163, rolled last night. We were on the second shift, and the league teams ahead of us wound up some 15 minutes late on our alleys.

We took over, and our pin boy slowed down to a snail's pace in the second and third games. We were a half hour late getting home. The kid in the pits, setting pins on both alleys, looked about 16 years old and husky enough to be a pretty good high school athlete.

Boys that age have a lot of "bounce," and we wondered why our lad tired so badly. Pinsetting doesn't look too tough, and we thought "Here we are, fat and 48, but we could do it."

★

THEN WE GOT to thinking about those pins and 16-pound balls—and lifting them. Grabbing a pencil we started figuring, and we'd like to have you tag along as we go through the mathametics of the pin boy's chores.

The first thing you must remember is that the youngster must pick up the pins and lift 'em shoulder high before distributing them in the rack. He must do the same with the ball—shoulder high again—to get it on the return runway.

Now for the figures.

A set of pins weighs about 33 pounds. Figuring that you mark in at least two of the three tenth frames (you can't bowl on our team if you don't) the boy will spot the pins 32 times for you in a three-game series whether you strike, split, spare, miss or foul.

Well, 32 times 33 is 1,056. The kid picks up that many pounds of pins for you in three games. He does the same for the other nine members of the two teams. That means, in three games, he handles 10,560 pounds of pins.

The ABC has it figured out that the average league bowler rolls 19 balls a game. That allows you three strikes per game, plus one or two extra throws after marking in the tenth.

★

SO THE PIN boy has to pick up your ball—a 16-pounder unless you are a sissy—19 times per game, or 57 times for three games. Multiply 16 by 57 and you have 912 pounds or mineralite he handles for you alone—or 9,120 pounds for the two five-man teams.

Now add the 10,560 pounds for pins and the 9,120 for balls and you have 19,680, which is approximately 10 tons unless they've changed things since we studied such stuff in school.

Our boy had set 'em up for the previous league, too, so for the four and half-hours he had boosted practically 20 tons shoulder high, not counting the energy expended in ramming the rack back on the alleys, hopping from one runway to another, and crawling up the gutters for fugitive pins.

We're tired, just thinking about those 20 tons. If this were New Year's, our first resolution would be to never again raise our voice to one of those hard-working kids. And maybe we won't even blame him for not having the pins on the spot—the next time we get a 7-10 split.

Ohio Colleges Lose 2, Win 1

By the Associated Preaa ITAL

Ohio College Basketball teams lost two out of three games to out of state invaders last night.

Loyola of Chicago — due to meet Bowling Green tonight—defeated John Carroll in Cleveland 57 to 50. In the other game at the Cleveland Arena, city college of New York defeated Baldwin Wallace 62 to 57.

The victory in interstate play went to Bluffton, which won over Indiana Tech of Ft. Wayne, Ind., 62 to 60.

24 Roll Tonight

Twenty four teams are scheduled to make their marks in the last full session of the Men's bowling tournament tonight at Richland Recreation. Twelve teams roll at 7 p. m. and another dozen at 9.

Bellville 5, Ontario In Title Game

Bellville and Ontario will take the floor at Senior high school at approximately 8:45 tonight with at least three scores to settle.

First of all there's the official distinction of the county tournament championship for which the game is being played. Since the two finished in a tie in the final county league standings there's that to decide.

EACH WINS ONE

Then there is the matter of personal records since each defeated the other once during the regular season. Ontario won on its home court, 37-33, early in the season and Bellville won at Bellville, 43-34, two weeks ago.

Despite the evenness of the records, the Blue Jays will enter the game as favorite on the basis of their tournament showing. Ontario, on the other hand, has not been too tough on its shooting lately and may be about due to break out in a rash of points.

BOTH IN DISTRICT

Regardless of the winner, both teams will advance to the district tournament set to open in Bucyrus next Tuesday. Drawings will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at Bucyrus high school and both schools are to be represented.

The two semi-final losers, Lexington and Lucas, will meet in the 7:30 p. m. consolation game. Lexington bowed to Ontario, 49-43, and Lucas fell before Bellville, 43-41, in Thursday's game.

Illini Battle Northwestern; Bucks At Home

CHICAGO — (AP) — Illinois can cinch at least a share of the big nine crown tonight with an assist from Purdue.

The Illini, averaging 62 points per game in eight wins and one loss, invade Chicago Stadium to meet Northwestern (2-9). Purdue (6-5) the only team to defeat Illinois, travels to Minnesota (8-2).

Should the Boilermakers upset the gophers—and the Illini defeat Northwestern as expected—Illinois would be assured of at least a co-championship.

Other games tonight send Indiana (5-5) to Iowa (2-7) and Michigan (6-3) to Ohio state (5-6).

★

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Ohio State's basketball team was rated a five-point favorite over the invading Michigan Wolverines.

Although the Buckeyes have had only a so-so season, they have been beaten only once this year on their home court. That was the heartbreaker they dropped to Illinois, currently leading the western conference.

Trick Shot Artist To Feature Galion Basketball Show

GALION — Wilfrid Hetzel, reported to be the world's best trick shot with a basketball, will feature the cage program tomorrow at the Galion armory beginning at 1:30 p. m.

HETZEL

Among Hetzel's marks are said to be 144 straight foul shots on one foot, 66 straight kneeling on both knees, 26 consecutive one-bounce goals and a one-handed fielder from 88 feet away. Hetzel will appear at 3 p m.

The preliminary will pit the Tiffin Behm Brothers (18-1) against the Greenwich Warriors (18-2). The Galion Stars battle the Leesville Reds in the finale. Chic Skelley's Galion team has won eight of 11. Skelley has invited the basketball teams of 35 area high schools to attend the show.

Dominates Picture

ARCADIA, Calif., — (AP) — The $100,000 Santa Anita handicap dominates the turf picture today, and uncertainty is the theme of pre-race predictions.

Shelby Court Team Closes With Victory

MARION — The Shelby high school Whippets closed their regular basketball season with a 34-to-28 revenge victory over Marion Harding here last night. It was the tenth win in 18 games for Coach Charles Williams' team.

Shelby led at halftime, 18 to 16 but fell behind, 23-22, as the final quarter opened. However, the Whippets slowed down their pace and outscored Marion in the fourth heat, 12 to 5, featuring a ball-control style of offense.

STARS ARE OUT

Illness robbed each each team of a star. Harold Onie, Shelby forward, and Joe Daum, Marion center, both missed the tilt. And Stan Cronenwett, Shelby center, had to get out of a sick bed to play. Cronenwett was the all-around star and led the scorers with 12.

Two subs — Lawrence Paine and Jerry Wilson—played most of the game for Shelby.

Marion copped the reserve game, 32 to 30.

Edison Wins Morrow Cage Tournament

By DOYLE RUSK

IBERIA—The powerful Edison Tigers defeated the "cinderella" Iberia Presidents, 66-49, here last night to win the Morrow county tournament championship. Iberia had upset Marengo and Sparta in previous tourney games.

The victory gave the Tigers their third championship in the last five years, they having won the title in 1944 and 1945.

Maynard Goare led his brother's team as never before to rip in 24 points, completing the tournament with an average of 22.3 per game. Edison is coached by Fred Goare, young polio victim who directs play from a sideline wheelchair.

Iberia, led by Forward Edgar Robinson who tallied 15 points, held a 13-12 lead at the end of the first period, but Edison roared back to take a 29-24 advantage at half-time. They outscored Iberia by only two points in the third quarter and ran away with the contest in the fourth quarter after Iberia's ace forward, Dale Miller, fouled out.

Meanwhile at Edison, Marengo eliminated Johnsville, 37-34 in the losers' bracket finals. Marengo and Iberia will meet for the second district tournament berth tomorrow night at Iberia. Iberia defeated Marengo, 51-48, in a previous tournament game.

Reserve teams from Cardington and Johnsville will play finals in that tournament in the 7:30 p. m. preliminary.

Shelby Quints Score Plenty

SHELBY — New scoring records were set last night in the Shelby basketball league as the teams rung down the curtain on the regular league schedule.

The Gumps team, champions of the league, blasted the hapless Legion five by a score of 82 to 22. Vanderbilt, Lucas and Dill led the scoring with 32, 27 and 11 points respectively.

The Shelby Merchants walloped the Salesbook 60 to 45 with Dwight Tooker and Glen Fought handling the scoring honors for the Merchants with 28 and 19 points respectively, while Swartz was high for the Salesbook with 16 points. The Seamless Tube outfit came from behind to nose out a scrappy Bing's team 28 to 27 in the last minute of play.

Tentative plans call for an all-star game to be played on March 12 in which fifteen players from the other teams in the league will oppose the city champs.

McKinley Smashes Streak

By FRED THARP

Mansfield Senior high school's long home-court winning streak is no more.

The skein was snapped off at 19 straight by the Tygers' old nemesis, Canton McKinley, 49 to 47, last night in the Senior high gym. The Bulldogs had been the last team to hand the Tygers a home defeat way back in 1947.

Inability to hit from the court undoubtedly cost the Tygers the game, although the McKinley hustle was one of the deciding factors. Senior high missed 49 of 66 shots but made up for it a bit by hitting 13 of 22 free throws.

LAST HALF DRIVE

Another of the McKinley patented last half drives paid off as Mansfield led most of the first half. The Tygers were in front at the first two intermission points, 12 to 7 and 28 to 23 but fell behind 39-38 as the final heat got under way.

Then in the fourth quarter, McKinley built up a 43-to-39 lead. However, Soph Ken McCally connected on a one-hander and Norb Shibinski hit from under the basket to knot the count for the seventh time in the game. Ed Demyan made good on his sixth consecutive free throw to put the Tygers ahead 44-43 but Wendell Early immediately tied the count.

KNOTTED AGAIN

McCally put the Tygers back in front with a one-hander but Charles Rex tied the score with 2:45 to go. Manuel Alvarez dropped in a foul and Early sent home a one-hander with one minute left. The Canton team stalled until Jimmy Anderson was fouled with five seconds remaining.

The Mansfield junior sank one of his free throws and the Tygers took the ball out instead of trying the second. The Bengals got two shots in that last five seconds.

Mansfield led at one time by eight points. Shibinski hit three straight points to put them ahead 15-to-7 at the start of the second quarter. However, McKinley surged back to take two one-point leads in the second stanza.

PIER 7 BRAWL

The Tygers passed well in the first half and controlled the boards but their over-all play fell off in the last half as the game at times resembled a Pier Seven brawl. However, only 31 fouls were called. McKinley lost Basil Albert and Carl Stosic while Demyan fouled out of the Bengal lineup.

Anderson just couldn't buy a basket as he fell six points below his average with eight points. He hit only three of 22 shots but actually had three baskets nullified when McKinley men fouled him just prior to shooting.

Alvarez was the top scorer with 20 points, 11 in the second quarter. Shibinski paced Mansfield with 16.

The game closed the Tygers regular season and gave them a 13-7 record. McKinley now has 12 wins and five defeats. The Bulldogs have won 12 of their last 14 games from Senior high.

BABY BENGALS WIN

The Mansfield sophs got back on the victory wagon in the prelim by beating the Canton reserves, 33 to 25. After playing to a 11-11 tie in the first half, the Baby Bengals outscored the Bulldogs, 22 to 14.

Coach Fred Staub's club closed the season with 14 wins and four defeats.

Madison Falls to Galion 5

By CHARLEY STINE

GALION — Madison high closed its regular season basketball schedule here last night with a 68-45 defeat at the hands of a sharpshooting Galion combination. It was Madison's 11th defeat against eight victories.

Ram Coach Blaine Dowler shook up his starting lineup and it worked to a certain extent as the Madison shooting was sharp in spurts. The man-for-man defense, however, could not slow up the Galion attack which hit from all corners of the floor.

SEIF GETS 18

Ray Seif, Galion's ambidexterous sophomore ace, pumped 18 points through the nets, mostly on shots from far back in which he leaps into the air with the ball balanced on his right hand and cuts loose with a wrist flip. He shoots exclusively with his right hand despite the fact that he is a promising baseball pitcher as a southpaw.

Gene Riblet and Russ Glenn broke into the Madison lineup as Larry Secrist and Jim Brightbill were relegated to the bench. Dowler used 12 men in all and finished the game with the reserve team in the lineup. It was the first varsity action for the "three beanpoles," Marty Keipp, Kenny Woerth, and Jerry Tallentire. All three broke into the scoring though in the game only a couple minutes.

TEN SCORE

Ten men in all marked in the scoring column with Joe Distl setting the pace with 18 points.

The reservey team closed its season with a 31-29 victory over a fine Galion second team.

Madison is to meet Bucyrus in the Class A sectional tournament next Tuesday night while Galion plays Senior high Wednesday.

From Airplanes to Pheasants

Ohio Purchaser Rapidly Catching On

COLUMBUS — (AP) — John W. Bush doesn't carry a market basket when he goes shopping for the state of Ohio. He needs a whole freight train.

Bush may spend a half a million dollars in one day for everything from airplanes to day-old pheasants.

The state's purchasing agent never knows when he walks into his office whether his daily shopping expedition will take him into a factory for steam boilers or a pharmaceutical laboratory for castor oil.

Bush has held the job hardly a month, but he is fast catching on to the lingo used in the business.

Thus, when an order came through from the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield for "No. 1 calf," he placed an order for shoe leather. A clerk in the office wanted to assign it to the dead animal class.

Another order from the London prison farm called for "20 gross of tin pants buttons." He put in the order for tin buttons not tin pants.

On his desk were samples of red bandanna handkerchiefs. One institution had just ordered 4,000 yards of bandanna material. Also on his desk was an order for $55,000 worth of bed sheeting material.

Bush buys soap by the tank car. Right now requisitions are coming in for seed potatoes from those institutions where farming is extensive. One ordered 1,800 bushels of seed potatoes, another 1,750.

Food, coal and clothing for the 26 state welfare and penal institutions make up the biggest items of purchase. It takes about 300,000 tons of coal a year to keep the state's wards warm and funish power and light at the institutions.

The Conservation department may order a motor boat today and next week order a thousand day-old pheasants, until the baby pheasants are 72 hours old they may be shipped without food or water. One time the purchasing department received an order for 1,000 chicken hens "without lice." They were to be used as brooders at one of the institutions.

Study Effects Of Comics

R. Y. Davis, teacher at Johnny Appleseed junior high school, and chairman of the committee to study the effects of comic books, radio and movies on youth for the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be in Columbus today and Saturday for the third in a series of meetings on the subject.

500 to Be Laid Off at Westinghouse

Goes Back To 5-Day Operation

Cuts Output Of Appliances

Furloughing of 500 employes at the Mansfield plant of Westinghouse Electric corporation Monday and return to a five-day week in the refrigerator department was announced today by company officials.

John H. Ashbaugh, vice president in charge of the local plant, said that during February employment has averaged 7,700 employes, a drop of 100 from the January average when there was very little furloughing. He said that employment during March is expected to average 7,200 employes.

In making the announcment, Ashbaugh said there would be a lower rate of production of small appliances, electric ranges, and electric refrigerators. A seasonal slack occurs during February and March, he said.

"We plan a lower rate of production on small appliances beginning March first," he said, "because small appliances are usually a fall selling activity. We make twelve different small appliances here and the reduction varies between ten and twenty-five per cent."

He added that the company "will reduce range production schedules ten per cent in order to bring about a better balance of field and factory inventories.

BACK TO 5 DAYS

Referring to the refrigerator operation which had gone to six days two weeks ago, he said that the operation will go to five days during March and added: "What the April production rates on these appliances will be, cannot be determined until the end of March and such schedules will be based upon sales of appliances during March."

Referring to the furloughing on Monday, Ashbaugh said "The reductions in employment include those of normal labor turnover such as quits, retirements and illness. Such normal turnover will reduce the number actually furloughed."

Employment at the plant during the war reached a peak of 5,600 while the peak employment during 1948 was 8,000 workers. The number of employes at the plant before the war averaged 5,100.

Today's announcement is in direct contrast to a statement issued Friday. Questioned yesterday about rumors that there would be furloughing, company officials said furloughing was "practically nil." They said the "normal one to two per cent fluctuation in employment is continuing."

Two Confess In Murder

DAYTON—(INS)—Dayton police said today they had cracked the "pop bottle murder" of a Dayton restaurant operator with the confessions of two men.

Detective E. H. Andrews said William Childers, 30, and Milbren Henry, 23, a roomer of the slain man, had signed confessions. The 57-year-old restaurant proprietor, Daniel J. Myers, was found beaten to death Thursday in his room above his place of business.

The detective chief said Henry is an ex-convict. Henry admitted watching Childers beat Myers to death after robbing the cafe owner of $60.

Henry was implicated in the case when it was learned he had been living with Myers and had a key to the restaurant. Childers told police:

"We just needed money and did not inted to kill him. Just thought to knock him out. I didn't realize I hit him so hard."

Red Purge Underway In France

4 Sympathizers Nabbed In Raid

PARIS—(U.P.)—The ministry of interior announced today that four communist sympathizers were arrested and handed over to military authorities this morning on charges they had disclosed military secrets.

Those arrested were believed part of a group detained yesterday during sweeping raids on communist publications and their offices in Paris. Documents "interesting to the national defense" were found in the raids, officials said.

The raids were made as France moved to indict all members of the French Communist party central committee on charges of sedition by undermining the morale of the French army.

The four communist suspects were taken to the Reuilly army barracks in Paris for questioning by a military judge after hours of grilling by officials of the Surete Nationale, the French national police similar to the American Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Later today they will be transferred to the Cherche-Midi military prison in Paris.

The ministry of interior also said that 11 other men arrested yesterday on similar charges were released this morning but will remain under police surveillance.

Charges against the members of the French Communist party central committee were presented to the ministry of justice by Minister of Defense Paul Ramadier.

They were based on the declaration by Maurice Thorez, secretary-general of the Communist party, that France should welcome an invading Soviet army in case of war.

Pays $5,800 For Opium; Has Paprika

COLUMBUS —(INS)— An alleged $5,800 opium shipment contained in 58 spice cans had federal narcotics agents completing a minute examination today of what so far seemed to be only paprika.

Roosevelt Lewis, 44, told Columbus police he paid the sum to two men he arranged to meet at the Union railroad terminal. Lewis was held for questioning.

Meanwhile the narcotics agents sat down to the task of combing through the contents of the 58 cans. So far their efforts have turned up nothing except kitchen spices.

Rent Controls Still Opposed

WASHINGTON —(INS)— A compromise Democratic bill extending rent controls for 15 months was still unacceptable today to House Republican opponents.

Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich., ranking minority member of the House Banking committee, announced he would seek to extend rent controls only until June 30 "so that Congress can determine what the economic situation actually is going to be."

The compromise measure was worked out at a conference yesterday between the House Democratic leadership and Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods.

Goes Solo Into Silo

They Put the Skids On Grady

YUKON, Okla —(U.P.)— Knockout drops, cut grease and a strong push-and-pull freed Grady the cow from her silo prison today.

It was a triumph for the Denver Post, which invaded Oklahoma to rescue this bovine damsel in distress.

She left the silo with great squirming and clatter of hoofs with Ralph Patridge, farm editor of the Post, pushing her from behind with the help of three others.

When it came down to cases, the liberation was a lot easier than expected and took everyone by surprise.

To get Grady ready, they pulled her fore feet through the door and a veterinary gave her a massive shot of demdutal—the same stuff they use in sleeping tablets.

Then they gave Grady a tentative heave.

There was a sudden scraping of hoofs on the greased wooden ramp underneath her and the Hereford burst out much as she had burst in.

Ever since the nation heard about Grady's captivity, Bill Mach, her owner, was swamped with suggestions.

"I heard from 44 or 45 states yesterday, including Canada," Mach said. "They all had ideas. I can't understand it—all this fuss for just one cow. People are sure kind-hearted."

Among the plans were:

Toledo, Ohio—The Toledo Times appointed a cow editor and started firing ideas to Mach.

WHA' HOPPEN?—Grady, 1,400-pound hereford cow who squeezed her way through a tiny silo door then couldn't get out, peers through the place of her entrance. The nation rushed to her aid with suggestions, but it took a combination of drugs, grease, inspiration and perspiration to free the bovine damsel in distress.

Minneapolis—A citizen recommended grease and a push through the door. "She won't come hard with lard," he said.

Mach, who runs a 1,280-acre ranch with 100 herefords in partnership with his brother Charles, is keeping an open mind.

"We'll listen to 'em all," he said.

Ohio Reds Back FEPC

Urge Stronger Measures In Bill

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio legislators have received letters from the communist party of Ohio urging them to vote for fair employment practice legislation.

The letters, signed by Robert Campbell, educational director, and Gus Hall, chairman, read:

"The communist party of Ohio respectfully suggests that you cast your vote for FEPC legislation that will end the division of economic citizenship in our state."

Last Wednesday an FEPC bill was recommended for passage by a 10-5 vote in the House Industry - Labor committee. A House leader said yesterday it may come to a vote on the House floor next Wednesday.

Campbell's and Hall's letter said they are not satisfied with the bill in the House. They added:

"It seems to us that the enforcement provisions are weak, and that all hearings and investigations conducted by the (FEP) commission should be public. These weaknesses, for example, are to be found in the Ives bill in New York state where discrimination continues despite the enactment of legislation which is supposed to end the evil."

'Saturated' With Permits

Liquor Board Urges 'Extended Freeze'

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The State Liquor Control board has proposed that the issuance of new permits for retail sale of beer and whisky be halted for an indefinite period.

A new regulation, filed with the secretary of state, would "freeze" the number of permits allowable at the total of those now in existence.

The board on Jan. 27 imposed a 60-day ban on the issuance of "C" and "D" permits. The new regulation, filed with the secretary of state Feb. 24, could not become effective before the elapse of 40 days.

Meanwhile, State Liquor Director Oscar L. Fleckner said he believed the state already was "saturated" with liquor permits. So far as he is concerned, he added, no additional permits should be issued, except in isolated cases involving unusual circumstances.

The text of the board's new regulation follows:

"After the effective date of this regulation the number of C-1, C-2, D-1, D-2, D-3, D-3A, D-4 and D-5 permits which may be issued within the state of Ohio and within each political subdivision thereof is hereby limited to a figure which shall be equal to the number of permits of each above designated class respectively issued and outstading in the state of Ohio and in each political subdivision thereof as of (date to be set).

"This regulation shall not be construed so as to increase the number of permits of the above designated classes permissible under section 6064-17 of the general code of Ohio."

Before the new regulation can become effective, the board must conduct a hearing for opponents and proponents.

Director Fleckner estimated the regulation might remain in effect 90 days, which would extend the present ban on new permits to five months.

Rifle Fire Hits Plant

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Franklin county sheriff's deputies were searching nearby neighborhoods today in an effort to locate the high-powered rifle which fired a shot into the uneasy American Zinc Oxide company plant at Columbus yesterday afternoon.

No one was injured as the bullet sped into the side of a building in the east section of the plant.

The shooting was one of several in the last few weeks.

A worker was accidentally shot through both legs recently and six shots were poured through a boiler room since the company ousted a CIO smelter workers' union which had struck last August.

Scenes of violence have been frequent and several persons have been injured and imprisoned in the strike action.

Coeds Take Impromptu Baths

Hint Discipline After 'Bedtime' Raid

ROCK ISLAND, ILL—(U.P.)—Officials of Augustana college said today that "appropriate disciplinary action" may be taken against 250 male students who invaded the girls' dormitory, dumped the coeds out of bed and doused some of them in bathtubs.

The Rev. Harry B. Johnson, dean of men, said the affair was a "prank," and that "such things are unnecessary."

But one coed said "it was really more fun than anything else."

"In fact," said Lois Taylor, a senior from Geneseo, Ill., the girls "had an inkling" the boys were coming. She said some of the doors may have been "conveniently open."

The raiders roamed through the building, dumping over beds, upsetting furniture and pulling out dresser drawers. Mattresses were soaked with water and some of the coeds were hauled, kicking and screaming, to the filled bathtubs.

Miss Taylor, who said she locked herself in her room and "peeked over the transom," said the girls either were in bed or preparing to go to bed and that "most of them were fairly decent."

Some of the more spirited girls grabbed water buckets and doused the intruders. But all was pretty much confusion, for the boys had pulled light switches and silenced telephones. They even locked the house mother, Mrs. Alma Johnson, in her room.

The affair lasted 10 minutes. The boys posted a sentinel and, as Rock Island police approached, he sounded "retreat" on a bugle.

The boys scattered into the night and there were no arrests.

Probe Insane Doctor

Medical Board Under Fire

Ashland County Prosecutor Kenneth J. Nordstrom today asked the state medical board why Dr. Wayne E. Young, 54, former Mansfield physician, was permitted to practice medicine after he was adjudged mentally ill in 1946.

The physician, who recently had been practicing in Mifflin, is charged with abortion. Cited in Ashland county common pleas court, he was ordered to the Lima state hospital for observation.

His counsel entered a plea of insanity for him in the Ashland county court. Investigation by the Ashland prosecutor brought out that Dr. Young was ordered to a rest home Oct. 1, 1946, in Richland county probate court after he was adjudged mentally ill.

Evidence that Dr. Young practiced after he was released from the rest home was introduced at the Ashland hearing, Prosecutor Nordstrom said.

Nordstrom wrote Dr. H. M. Platter, secretary of the state medical board in Columbus telling him of the Richland county action in 1946 and that Dr. Young had been committed to mental institutions previously in 1940 and 1945. Dr. Platter said a hearing cannot be held as long as the Richland county ruling still is in effect.

Judge S. H. Cramer, Richland county probate judge said Dr. Young was committed to the old Hix Alcoholics Anonymous hall on West Fourth street road in 1946 when adjudged mentally ill.

Ralph Rogers, Ashland county deputy sheriff, who took Dr. Young to Lima Tuesday said Dr. Young appeared "foggy" in his mental attitude. He said the physician, whose wife died three years ago in Mansfield, had been living in the large second floor room of an abandoned schoolhouse in Mifflin. He used the room as office and residence with the first floor used for storing machinery.

Local investigation started when a woman, badly infected from use of unsterilized equipment, became a patient of another doctor in Ashland.

Auto Strikes Pole, Darkens Four Streets

Skidding more than 80 feet into a utility pole at the Marion and Sherman avenue intersection, a car driven by Thomas A. Taber shut off lights, fire alarm boxes, and phones in the Marion area for five hours—starting at 2:56 a. m. today.

Having felled the pole Taber's auto skidded 60 more feet into a tree on the east side of Marion avenue.

Four streets, Marion, Bartley at Marion, Maple at Dawson, and Sherman at Summit were blocked off as repairmen erected a new pole and made proper wiring connections.

Taber, 26, is a resident of Akron. He was charged with unsafe operation of his motor vehicle, and fined $25 and costs in Municipal court today. His driver's license was suspended until he pays for the damage he caused.

Announce Layoff of 5,000 Due Monday

TOLEDO — (INS) — Willys-Overland Motors officials announced today that 5,000 workers will be laid off Monday at the firm's Toledo plant.

Arthur J. Wieland, company executive vice president, said the layoff will last but a few days until an inventory of stockpiles is completed.

WILL DECORATE SOLDIER

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The army Monday will present Sgt. Robert L. Hodgkiss of Mt. Pleasant, O., with the highest award for heroism since V-J day—the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Milk Goes Down Tuesday

The price of milk in Mansfield will drop one cent a quart Tuesday, dairymen announced today.

Milk will retail at 19 cents a quart for the regular grade and 20 cents for the homogenized product.

The new prices will be the lowest since Jan. 1, 1948 when standard grade milk went up one cent to 20 cents a quart.

During 1948 there were two changes in milk prices. On Aug. 1, milk was increased to 22 cents per quart, the highest price in years. That price held until Nov. 16 when it dropped again to 20 cents.

FEED ADEQUATE

Two reasons were given here today by the dairymen for the price drop. The mild winter has made it easier to feed and care for cattle and the feed supply is more adequate than it has been for some time.

A year ago, feed was scarce, dairymen said. These two reasons are coupled with the fact that it is time for a seasonal drop in prices. With the coming of spring, pasture lands will again be open to cattle, it was pointed out.

All milk products will be down accordingly, a milk company spokesman said today.

Auto Price War Looms

GM Spokesman Ducks Argument

DETROIT — (INS) — An automobile price war loomed today in the wake of General Motors passenger car price cuts and economists viewed the GM move as an attempt to get the jump on the buyer's market.

Chrysler Sales Vice President A. Van Derzee termed the $10 to $40 slashes the result of a decision to "get more in line competitively," but a GM spokesman said the corporation refused to get into an argument and was "happy to let the public decide."

The Chrysler corporation 24 hours previous to yesterday's GM price-cut announcement had upped prices on its forthcoming 1949 models 6.7 per cent.

The Ford Motor company so far has not indicated what its reaction to the General Motors Reduction will be. The firm cut prices on Jan. 15, 1947 but subsequent increases have more than wiped out the slashes.

Analysts, businessmen and financiers theorized that GM — the world's largest motor car manufacturer — may be attempting by its action to exercise price leadership in the nation's economy.

They looked upon the General Motors move as symbolic recognition of the transition of business from a seller's to a buyer's market.

Trapped Army Now Evacuates

TEL AVIV —(INS)— Evacuation of the three thousand Egyptian troops who were trapped in the Negev desert by the Israeli army during the Palestine warfare began today under the surveillance of Israel and United Nations personnel.

The Egyptians had been surrounded near Faluja and the method and time of their evacuation threatened several times to disrupt Israel-Egyptian armistice negotiations.

The whole force is expected to be evacuated within three days.

In accordance with the armistice agreement, civilian and army personnel were permitted to watch the first Egyptians move out of the Faluja pocket and head for home.

Italian Backs Reds

ROME—(AP)—Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's communist chief, declared in an interview published today Italian communists would fight alongside Russian armies if those armies ever chase "an aggressor" on Italian soil.

Popular Officer Succumbs

Death Occurs At 11:30 A. M.

Police Lt. William J. Taylor, 38, died at 11:30 a. m. today in General hospital of wounds suffered in a gun battle eight days ago.

The popular officer lost his fight against infection which developed from two wounds in the abdomen.

He was wounded when he went into a house at 321 East Fourth street early in the evening of Feb. 18 to capture Robert Dilgard, who had gone berserk.

Dilgard was shot fatally by Patrolman Carl F. Berry after the crazed man had wounded Lt. Taylor with a .22 caliber pistol.

UNDERWENT OPERATION

Although Lt. Taylor was operated on immediately after being received at the hospital and everything possible was done to save his life, Dr. Paul Stoodt,

LT. WILLIAM J. TAYLOR

the attending physician, said today that peritonitis had set in and the abdomen had become paralyzed. Severing of an artery by one of the bullets had complicated Lt. Taylor's condition.

All of Mansfield watched the officer's valiant battle against great odds after he was taken to the hospital.

Hundreds of calls have flooded police headquarters and the hospital switchboard during the past week.

The young officer, a veteran of World War II, had a friendly way and hundreds of persons knew his smile and greeting although they may not have known his name.

Taylor, who was appointed a lieutenant Feb. 20, 1948, had been with the police department six and one half years.

He served as boatswain's mate first class aboard an LSM in several Pacific invasions.

He was head of the Police Recreation club last year. His wife, Esther, and a daughter survive. His home was at 160 Parkwood boulevard.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home. Funeral services had not been arranged shortly after noon today.

Dutch Free Indonesians

THE HAGUE —(INS)— The Netherlands government announced today that all Indonesian Republican leaders held by the Dutch in Indonesia will be released immediately and unconditionally.

The men, including Indonesian President Achmed Sukarno, were seized by the Dutch at the time they launched their "police action in the East Indies last December.

The United Nations Security council on Dec. 28 ordered the men released but the order was not complied with. They had been held at the isolated island of Banka after being taken prisoner in Jogjakarta.

Another action protesting their imprisonment was taken by the Asiatic conference called during January at New Delhi.

Man Locked Out, So Sets House On Fire

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Eddie Brady, 50, had an argument with his wife and four sons, and they wouldn't let him come into the house.

So he soaked the front porch with gasoline and set it on fire.

The damage was about $100, Eddie was charged with arson.

Parables Dramatize Jesus' Teaching

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 4; Luke 15:11-24

Jesus taught by the seaside, and as the multitude crowded around, He stepped into a ship and sat in it while He talked to the people, using parables to make His points clear

Jesus' first parable was about a man who sowed seed, some of which were eaten by birds, some withered in the sun, some were choked by weeds, but some flourished and were harvested.

The next parable concerned the man who divided his wealth between his two sons, one of whom squandered his portion, nearly starved, returned home, repentant, and was welcomed back.

Jesus' disciples took Him in a ship, and the Lord, wearied, fell asleep. A great storm arose, and they, being afraid, wakened Him, who quieted the storm.

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 86:5.
